CAMELLIAS

Visit our Camellia Gardens. We have the finest collection growing on the Gulf coast. Come and see them. You are always welcome.

Potting soil for Camellias

One-third peat-moss

One-third good garden soil

One-third sand

To you who live in the northern section of the U. S. A. You can have Camellias, too. They are easy to grow, just the same as other house plants.

It takes time and care just the same as you give your other plants.

Keep plants well watered but not sloppy. If leaves on the plants begin to turn yellow, you may have the soil too wet. Also try using rain water and giving each pot plant three tablespoons of sulphur. Sulphur helps make the soil acid.

Camellias with buds do not like to be in a room that is too hot. Keep them where it will be from 40 to 50.

We get our nicest flowers here at the nursery when we have a light frosty morning.

We must not plant Camellias too deep. We here at the nursery always plant them one or two inches higher than they were grown in the nursery row.

Always pick a balled and burlapped camellia up by the ball of soil, never the stem.

We plant on firm ground and have the hole dug larger than the camellia ball, so we can put plenty of good soil mixed with peat-moss around the plant, never under as placing soft soil under a balled plant will let it settle later on and your plants will be planted too deep.

We leave the burlap on our camellias when we plant them.

Always water well when planting and during all dry weather the first year.

Camellias with scale or red spider should be sprayed with Volck, using it at the rate of one to seventy-five.

We fertilize our plants early in the spring, February-March.

CAMELLIAS

We are growing the following camellias and have some grafts, some on root, field grown, some in gallon cans and some in egg-cans. Send us your list and we will be very glad to quote you on what we have to offer.

We are sold low on many of the new varieties before the season starts.

Plants grown in the gallon and five-gallon cans, we sell them any time of the year.

AZALEAS

GROWING GOOD AZALEAS

Azaleas will grow in the sun or in the shade; in the sun you will have brighter colors. Azaleas can be used as pot or tub plants, in sections of the country where the weather man gives too much ice and snow, for out-side planting.

Azaleas like acid soil, they love peat-moss. Use plenty of it in the planting soil or around your plants when placing them in the lawn.

A mixture of Peat-moss, leaf mold and cow manure makes a very good soil to use in planting Azaleas.

We fertilize our plants early in the spring, using cottonseed meal, or any good Azalea fertilizer.

Keep well watered during all dry weather. For Scale and Red Spider, spray with Volck, using it one to fifty. Plants can be dusted with sulphur for Red Spider.

Prune or shear your plants just as soon as they are through blooming, to keep them in whatever form you desire.

INDICA AZALEAS

This is the large flowering variety that grows so well here in the South. You will find them growing at Birmingham, Memphis, Little Rock, Tyler and Houston, Texas.

They want plenty of peat-moss used in planting and plenty of water during the summer.
